LEECHON FILMS BACKGROUNDER

Introduction to company and founder:

Leechon Films is a company started by Belal Khan, an ambitious college student at Montclair State University who had a knack for film production. Through his talent in creating films, graphic designs, commercials and trailers, Khan decided to turn his high school hobbies into something more. Thus, in 2006 he marshaled his efforts and created Leechon Films. As time progressed, he honed his skills at film-making through opportunities given to him from various organizations and marketing firms across North America. These chances allowed him to work on creating short commercials, posters and promotional videos. His company is fast becoming one of the leading Islamic entertainment media in the America.

Why Leechon Films? What does it do? And for whom?

Leechon Films takes the good stuff people push aside- such as good morals and Islamic virtues - package it nicely and for everyone to benefit from and enjoy. We want to be able to promote the beneficial projects various institutions are working on, as well as deliver positive messages out to people. Film is a medium that reaches people far and wide and Leechon Films is here to benefit the world with that medium.

Belal Khan has created many popular Islamic videos such as "The Strangers," "Darkness to Light," the Young Muslims promo video, and many of the AlMaghrib Institute's trailers. To see some of his videos please visit <http://www.leechon.com/project-archive>.
